Why Royal Baking Powder is the Best.

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

I will go still further and state that, because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the Purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

A CABINET CRISIS IN SPAIN.

Kemmler Again Sentenced to Death.

Concerning Free Masonry in England.

Picked Up at Sea.

Special to the GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The schooner Ester Cabos arrived in port this morning from Bowers Landing with a cargo of posts for R. M. Gifford. The schooner brought Robert Samaritta, mate, and Sam Oscar, seaman, who were rescued from a watery grave by picking them up off of the bottom of the schooner Napa City, which was wrecked last night seven miles to the northwest of Port Reyes. Captain Thurman and the cook of the vessel were drowned.

Kemmler Again Sentenced.

By Associated Press.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.), July 3.—For the third time the sentence of death has been passed on William Kemmler, the murderer, whose case has become famous through a long fight in the Courts against the electrical execution law. Kemmler was brought from Auburn this morning. In the Court of Oyer and Terminer this afternoon Judge Childs ordered that his previous sentence be carried into effect at the Auburn Prison during the week of August 4th.

Taking an Outing.

By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The President left for Cape May this afternoon, after having been informed that the Legislative Appropriation bill would not be ready for his action until next week, the House having adjourned before it had been enrolled. He expects to return on Tuesday.

Blaine left this afternoon for Bar Harbor.

Wool Sales.

By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—An attempt has been made to establish a department in the New York Cotton Exchange for selling future deliveries in wool. The meeting had small encouragement. There are but few wool men belonging to the Cotton Exchange, and it is argued by them that it would be cheaper for them to open an organization for their own trade.

English Freemasons.

By Cable and Associated Press.]

LONDON, July 2.—The various Freemason Lodges in the province of Berks and Bucks were, on their own request, separated to-day by order of the Prince of Wales, the Grand Master. The Prince also installed the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, who has been appointed Provincial Grand Master of Berks. The province of Bucks will at present remain in charge of Rev. J. Studdhue Brownrigg.

Cabinet Crisis.

By Cable and Associated Press.]

MADRID, July 3.—There is a crisis in the Spanish Cabinet, and it is probable that a Conservative Ministry will be formed under the presidency of Canovas Del Castillo.

Unrequited Love.

By Associated Press.]

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—John Chapman, a crazy young man suffering from the heat and from the pangs of unrequited love, shot his sweetheart and a man who tried to save her, and then put a bullet through his own heart, at 10 o'clock last night.

Chapman was a carpenter, 35 years of age, and had been boarding with Mrs. Joanna Elsner, a prepossessing young widow who conducted a boarding-house at 810 and 812 North Eighth street.

During the past week Chapman proposed to Mrs. Elsner, and was rejected on account of his dissipated habits. The rejection caused him to go on a spree, during which he remained away from the house.

Last night he called on Mrs. Elsner in an apparently sober condition. She invited him into the parlor, and his first question was:

"What is my bill? I want to pay it."

The unfortunate woman named the sum, and Chapman reached in his pocket, but, instead of a purse, he pulled out a pistol and began firing at Mrs. Elsner.

She screamed and ran out into the street, closely pursued by Chapman. He fired three times and missed. The fourth shot struck her in the back as she was escaping through a confectionery store. Mike Melgrim, the proprietor of the store, struck Chapman and got in front of the woman. Chapman fired again and shot Melgrim through the body.

After gazing for a few seconds at the bodies of the two victims, Chapman put the muzzle of the weapon to his heart, pulled the trigger and fell dead. Mrs. Elsner and Melgrim are still alive, but their wounds are believed to be mortal.

Prospective Deficit.

By Associated Press.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—A Washington correspondent of the Public Ledger estimates that the proposed and probable expenditures of the Government will not only wipe out the Treasury Departmen surplus for the year, but place $46,000,000 on the debt side of the ledger. He figures it out this way: The net surplus, as estimated, will be $44,000,000 against $40,000,000 for the Department Pension Act, and $50,000,000 to be deducted on account of tariff revenues by the pending bill—a total of $90,000,000, against the present estimated surplus of $44,000,000.

Not Good Americans.

By Associated Press.]

MILWAUKEE, July 3.—The Lutheran Synod closed its session to-day. The resolutions state in substance, that the Lutherans feel in conscience constrained to not send their children to the public schools, because they are conducted upon a non-religious basis; they disapproved, however, any attempt to distribute the public school funds among the parochial schools. They approved the opposition made against the recently passed school laws of Wisconsin and Illinois, and declare they will oppose any similar legislation in other States. They also state that they do not feel bound in conscience to obey such laws.

Kerr's Case Continued.

By Associated Press.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—When the case of James W. Kerr, the foundryman who shot and killed Edward Cogan, a molders's apprentice, was called for examination in Judge Lawler's Court this afternoon, a motion for another continuance until to-morrow afternoon was granted, as the testimony taken at the inquest has not all been transcribed. The matter of admitting Kerr to bail was argued and taken under advisement.

Congressional Matters.

By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A message from the President as to the postal and cable communication between the United States and the Latin-American States as to the celebration of the fourth centennial of the discovery of America was presented and referred.

Allison moved that adjournment today be until Monday—agreed to.

Plumb offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the Secretary of War for information as to whether articles being manufactured at any national military home come in competition with private enterprises; if so, the reason and authority therefor. Plumb also offered a resolution directing the Secretary of the Interior to inform the Senate whether he has knowledge of a guarantee, actual or proposed, by the Union Pacific Railroad Company of the bonds or stocks of any other corporation, more especially those of the Oregon Navigation Company and the Denver & South Park Railroad; whether the Union Pacific has paid out of its surplus earnings, or otherwise, the indebtedness or any part thereof of those or any other companies; and if so, whether such guarantee or payment, or both, are in accordance with the law and consistent with the obligations of the Union Pacific to the United States.

Edmunds suggested to add the words "and that the Secretary of the Interior communicate all information in his possession or of his department on the subject."

Plumb accepted the amendment.

The President approved the joint resolution extending the unexpended balance for letter carriers for extra compensation under the eight-hour law to June 30, 1891.

After a brief session, and without transacting any business of importance, the Senate Committee on Military Affairs ordered a favorable report upon the nomination of Lieutenant Colonel Richard N. Batchelder to be Quartermaster-General of the United States Army.

Another unavailing conference over the silver bill was held this morning. One of the members says the time was spent in a general discussion of the financial situation; that no proposition was presented and pressed with any particular force, and an adjournment was taken at noon until Saturday morning.

It is said previous to that time, probably this afternoon or evening, the Republican members of the conference will hold a meeting with a view of agreeing upon some basis of action. One of the questions upon which the conferees are divided is said to be whether only the certificates to be issued in accordance with the bill shall be made a legal tender, or all certificates outstanding previous to the approval of the bill as well.

Walker, one of the House conferees, is credited with having suggested that the bill requires customs duties paid in gold alone, but that was ruled out on the ground that its consideration would open a discussion upon a matter not properly included within the scope of the bills before the conference.

Bland, of the House conferees, is quoted as saying that the only serious difference between the House and Senate conferees relates to the bullion redemption clause.

Destructive Electric Storm.

By Associated Press.]

TORONTO, July 3.—A severe storm prevailed in Eastern Ontario yesterday. In Campbellford and neighborhood hailstones the size of hens eggs fell, completely destroying all crops and glass in the vicinity. The wind leveled the trees, unroofed many buildings, and the water washed out many culverts, delaying trains badly. In the vicinity of Picton and Springfield lightning set fire to many barns and killed much live stock.

Oregon's Official Vote.

By Associated Press.]

SALEM, July 2.—The official vote for Congressman in the recent election gives Hermann (Republican) 40,176, Miller (Democrat) 30,363, Bruce (Union) 2,856. The vote on Governor will not be canvassed until the meeting of the Legislature next January.

Titles to Mexican Land Grants.

By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The President has transmitted to Congress the correspondence between the Department of State and the Mexican Government concerning the rights of certain Mexican citizens to have their claims to land in Arizona and New Mexico, ceded to the United States by treaty, adjusted and confirmed. The United States, says the President, owes a duty to Mexico to confirm to her citizens those valid grants that were saved by treaty, and the long delay which has attended the discharge of this duty has given just cause for complaint. The entire community where these large claims exist, and, indeed, all of our people, are interested in the early and final settlement of them. No greater incubus can rest upon the energies of a people or the development of a new country than that resulting from unsettled land titles. The necessity for legislation is so evident and urgent that I venture to express the hope that relief will be given at the present session of Congress.

An International Agreement.

By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 3.—An agreement has been entered into by Blaine and Romero, the Mexican Minister, providing for the reciprocal crossing of the international boundary line by the troops of the United States and Mexico when in close pursuit of hostile Indians. Under this agreement it is provided that no Indian scouts of the United States shall be allowed to cross the boundary unless they go as guides and trailers, and not exceeding in any case two scouts for each company or each separate command. The reciprocal crossing agreed upon shall only occur in unpopulated or desert parts of said boundary line. For the purpose of this agreement the unpopulated or desert parts are defined to be all points at least ten kilometers from any encampment or town of either country. No crossing of troops of either country shall take place from Capitan Leal, a town on the Mexican side of the Rio Brave, fifty-two English miles above Piedras Negras, to the Mount of Rio Grande.

The Striking Cloakmakers.

By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, July 3.—Two hundred striking cloakmakers gathered on Broadway, between Leonard and White streets, this morning, when the hands in Meyer & Jonassen's and the Mercantile Cloak Company's large shops were going to work. The strikers surrounded and threatened them, when some took to their heels and escaped, and others were seized and hustled away by force. Dozens of fights resulted, and Broadway for two blocks was the scene of confusion. There were many broken heads, and the working cloakmakers were generally worsted.

A Vigorous Protest.

By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, July 3.—A circular letter has been sent out to all the Boards of Trade in the United States by the New York Produce Exchange. It is a protest against the new form of a bill of lading which all the railroads adopted on the 1st of July, and was sprung upon the shippers without warning.

Adverse Report.

By Associated Press.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—The Master in Chancery has reported to Judge Tooley adversely to the petition of Frank R. Baker for an injunction restraining the Union Stock-yards Company from executing a mortgage, etc., to an English syndicate. Judge Tooley will take the matter up at once.

England's Substitute for a Protective Tariff.

History shows that American enterprise in manufactures often has needed protection from British capital, even more than from British labor. The crushing power of the former has struck down especial interests which might have withstood the latter. The systematic employment of such agency was frankly set forth in an official report published by order of the British House of Commons, to wit:

"The laboring classes in the manufacturing districts of this country, and especially in the iron and coal districts, are very little aware of the extent to which they are often indebted for being employed at all to the immense losses which their employers very often incur in bad times in order to destroy competition, and to gain and keep possession of foreign markets. Authentic instances are well known of employers having in such times carried on their works at a loss amounting in the aggregate to three or four hundred thousand pounds in the course of three or four years. If the efforts of those who encourage combinations to restrict the amount of labor and to produce strikes were to be successful for any length of time, the great accumulations of capital could not then be made which enable a few of the wealthy capitalists to overwhelm all foreign competition in times of great depression, and thus to clear the way for the whole trade to step in when prices revive, and to carry on a great business, before foreign capital can again accumulate to such extent as to be able to establish a competition in prices with any chances of success. The large capitalists of this country were the great instruments of warfare (if the expression may be allowed) against the competing capital of foreign countries, and are the most essential instruments now remaining by which our manufacturing supremacy may be maintained."

The coolness, says the Economist, with which this British document speaks of what "a few of the most wealthy capitalists" of England have been able to do toward "overwhelming all foreign competition" is quite refreshing; and such boasts, made to and adopted by the British Parliament, are commended to the thoughtful consideration of the voters of the United States. Many times has American enterprise been called to experience the efficacy of the "great instruments of warfare," those "great accumulations of capital," which, in "three or four years'" time have been able to meet a loss of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, for no other purpose whatever but to "destroy foreign competition and gain possession of foreign markets" for the benefit of England.

It will be borne in mind that such extraordinary agency was employed more against the capital and labor of the United States than any other country. And it should also be kept in mind that but for the support given to these by protective tariffs, they would much oftener been "overwhelmed" by "the wealthy capitalists" of England. Thanks to such beneficent protection, American enterprise largely has been able to withstand England's "great instruments of warfare," and to maintain in good degree its independence and vigor. But it is not as yet strong enough safely to be abandoned to such remorseless power, which, in passing years, is increasing its ability and its purpose for the same sort of "warfare" on "all foreign competition." Hence, the prime necessity for the maintenance of the policy of protection.

UNDER its new management, the Austin Reveille informs its patrons that in local politics it will be independent, but that it will support Senator J. P. Jones for re-election.

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am a pioneer in this county, having been here 30 years. Four years ago my little son Ellery became blood-poisoned by impure virus in vaccination. His arm swelled terribly, causing great agony; physicians said the arm must be amputated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood purifier, new to me, and was surprised to learn that it was prepared by C. I. Hood, with whom I used to go to school in Chelsea, Vt. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He continued to grow better as we gave him the Sarsaparilla, and having used 8 bottles is now entirely cured. As Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful results, I recommend it all I possibly can." JEROME M. SLEEPER, Upper Lake, Lake Co., Cal.

The City Treasurer

Of Lowell, Mass., says: "The above is from my brother, whose signature I recognized. I am also glad to testify to the excellence of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and to say that C. I. Hood & Co. are considered one of the most reliable firms in New England." VAN B. SLEEPER, City Treasurer, Lowell, Mass.

Tourists,

Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 00 bottles by all leading druggists.

An Old Soldier's Story.

In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteers, Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhoea, since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all of my old comrads, who, while giving their service to their country, contracted this dreadful disease as I did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food. Yours truly, A. E. Bending, Halsey, Ore. For sale by Shoemaker & Co.

Unpleasantness Avoided.

Several months ago, Mr. Henry Plummer of Clements, Cal., who is subject to cramps, was taken with a severe attack. He had been accustomed to get relief by dosing with morphine, but the disagreeable effect that followed would make him miserable for hours after the cramp had been relieved. I persuaded him to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He was much pleased with its effect as it was almost instantaneous, and no disagreeable after affects accompanied its use. Chas Bamert, Manager, Farmers' Trade Union, Clements, Cal. For sale by Shoemaker & Co.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find th Electric Bitter to be the best Liver and Kidney medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at Wm. Pinniger's drug store.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Micheal, Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption: she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. Pinniger's Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1 00.

A Sure Cure for Piles.

Itching Piles are known by moisture, like perspiration causing intense itching when warm. This form, as well as blind, bleeding and protruding, yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile remedy, which acts directly on the parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c. Druggists or mail; treatise free. Dr. Bosanko, Piqua, O. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson. ap3

Spring Medicine.

Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills on account of their mild action are especially adapted for correcting spring disorders, such as impure blood, tired brain and worn out body. They act promptly on the liver and kidneys; drive out all impurities from the blood, and malaria from the system. Only one pill at a dose. Try them this spring. Sold at 25 cents a box by S. J. Hodgkinson.

HOW TO SQUELCH LOTTERIES.

Congress Is the Power to Deal With Them.

The Philadelphia Press says: The Louisiana Lottery has won in the lower house of the Legislature. It will in both. Everyone knew it would. The question will go to the people in the most illiterate State in the Union; and, as about half the voters, both black and white, in Louisiana can neither read nor write, the lottery will win. But the place to fight the lottery is not in Louisiana, but in Congress. Congress by a single act can make the lottery privilege worthless, by cutting it off from mails, express companies, banks and all the privileges of Inter-State commerce. Until this is done Congress will be, as it has been for many years, an accessory after the fact to the lottery and its swindles.

The Firemen's Ball.

The members of Monumental Engine Company have spared no pains or expense to make their ball to-morrow evening a success. They have extended a cordial invitation to all visiting firemen to attend in full uniform. The Pavilion has been tastily decorated with flags, bunting and evergreens for the event, and good music has been engaged.

The boys will have a nice lunch spread during the day for their guests from Gold Hill and Carson.

It is thought the visiting hose companies will bring their "jumpers" with them, in order to engage in a friendly trial of speed with the Reno firemen.

Installation of Officers.

Last evening the following officers of Washington Lodge, No. 25, A.O.U.W., were installed: B. C. Shearer, Past Master Workman; E. C. Gladwin, Master Workman; C. M. Baner, Foreman; T. B Holmes, Overseer; W. S. Lake, Recorder; J. H. Berger, Financier; J. K. Seaman, Receiver; C. Schadler, Inside Watch; S. T. Taylor, Outside Watch.

B. C. Shearer was elected as representative to the Grand Lodge.

A Lively Runaway.

Last evening George Schaffer drove his horse and phaeton up in front of the Palace Hotel and stepped inside for a moment, leaving his horse standing at the door unhitched, when a sky rocket was sent up. That frightened the animal, and he started up Commercial Row at break-neck speed. He collided with a telegraph pole in front of W. O. H. Martin's store, where he left the phaeton a total wreck. The horse may be going yet.

Three Grades of Licenses.

The bill recently before the British Parliament to regulate the rum traffic, has opened up a discussion that is interesting to all classes of society. There are three classes of licenses granted at present: The publican's license, which allows the sale of all kinds of liquors, distilled or fermented; the beer license, and the wine license, taken out by the keepers of eating-houses and hotels.

Rich Antimony Mine.

The Austin Reveille says: The antimony mine on Big Creek bids fair to prove a valuable property. We were shown samples of the ore yesterday that were entirely barren of quartz, it being solid metal. To us it looks like first-class antimony. We have been informed it will go 70 per cent. Should such be the case, and it carries any silver, the ore will yield from $45 to $60 per ton.

Distinguished Visitors.

Last evening's Carson Tribune says: Hon. J. Sloat Fassett and wife of New York, accompanied by John W. Dwight, arrived in this city yesterday. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Bender. Mr. Fassett is President of the New York State Senate and Secretary of the Republican National Committee.

Heavy Mail Robberies.

Discoveries of extensive robberies of mail while in transit between Council Bluffs and Davenport, Iowa, were made some time ago, and two railroad employes at Wyandotte Junction have been arrested. The face value of the mail matter lost amounts to over half a million.

A Shade Tree Pest.

The thousands of soft maple trees growing in the streets of Chicago, and especially in the suburbs, are afflicted with a parasite known as the maple-bark louse this year, which threatens to destroy the larger number of these shade trees.

Accidentally Killed.

The Belmont Courier says: James Riley accidentally shot himself at Grantsvile on the 21st of June, and died on the same day. His remains were taken to Midas and buried there. He leaves a wife and a boy baby eight months old.

The Reno Firemen's Fourth of July ball should be patronized by every property holder in town. The boys give their services gratis and they should be sustained by the entire community.

Boils and pimples and other affections arising from impure blood may appear at this season, when the blood is heated. Hood's Sarsaparilla removes the cause of these troubles by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and at the same time gives trength to the whole system.

The Original Package.

It looks as if the "original package" decision was going to knock out prohibition in Fargo, N. D. Already thirteen different men are fitting up as many "original package" joints. The way ex-saloon keepers propose to do is to dispose of their old bar fixtures and then replace them with store counters and shelves, and then provide numerous small tables where the purchaser may find corkscrews and other conveniences, and the purchaser will have to do his own cork-pulling. It is understood that the proprietors of these joints apprehend no interference on the part of the officials. Prohibitionists are asking for an amendment to the Inter-State Commerce law.

Has Become a Socialist.

The German Emperor has summoned before him for investigation a young negro Prince, known as Alfred Bell, from the Cameroon country, West Africa, who had been sent to Bremen to learn the trade of carpenter, and who is alleged to have joined a gang of Socialists and Anarchists. If Bell should turn out to be really a Socialist, he will not be allowed to return to the Cameroons for fear of corrupting the natives.

A Popular Couple Married.

The long-talked of wedding of Frank Lewis, of the N.-C.-O. Railroad, and Miss Jessie Finlayson took place last evening at the residence of the bride's mother, on Lake street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McGill in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends of the family. The GAZETTE extends its best wishes to the young couple. They left for the city last night, where they will spend the honeymoon.

Foreign Immigration.

Among the 82,984 immigrants into the United States during the month of May were 15,163 from Germany, 13,114 from Ireland, 11,527 from Italy, 10,148 from Austria, including Hungary and Bohemia, 9,561 from Russia and Poland, 8,767 from Sweeden and Norway and 7,118 from England and Wales. The total from these countries was 75,398, or 91 per cent of the grand total.

Electric Street-Car System.

If About to Travel or Emigrate,

The voyager cannot be provided with a safer remedy and protective medicine than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Abundant testimony exists to prove that it nullifies hurtful climatic influences and the effects of exposure, that it reconciles the stomach to unaccustomed food, and prevents injurious results from impure water. Mariners, tourists, emigrants and miners have all contributed their quota of testimony in its behalf, and its protective influence has been most effectually demonstrated in regions and under conditions where, if not really affective, that fact would have long since been exposed. In no class of disorders have its remedial and preventive properties been more conspicuously shown than in cases of malarial fevers, maladies for which it is the most popular specific in existence, both here and in the tropics, where its reputation is scarcely second to that which it enjoys on this continent. It is, moreover, a most agreeable appetizer and nervine.

A ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN.

He Tests a California Production.—His Report.

A St. Louis gentleman whose affliction was sick headaches was so surprised at their cure by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, that he called it to the attention of a relative, who happened to be Dr. F. A. Barrett, the well-known St. Louis physician of 2652 Shenandoah Street. The doctor saw at once that it differed from the potash preparations in that it was purely vegetable, and becoming interested, began a series of investigations, and in a subsequent letter candidly admitted its curative properties, and says:—

Wishing to test its virtues further, I used it in my own family, and prescribed it for patients who required a general system regulator. As a result, I can say it is an almost absolute cure for constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, and sick headaches. These troubles usually come from a disturbed condition of the stomach and bowels, and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the best laxative and stomach regulator I have ever seen, and as a general system corrective is almost perfection.

EVENING SKIES.

How radiant the evening skies!
Broad wing of blue in space unfurled.
Heaven watching with ten thousand eyes
The welfare of a sleeping world.

When the bee blows its early horn
To wake the sisterhood of flowers,
Then comes another summer morn
To cheer us with its golden hours.

The sun illumines the happy day,
And earth grows fair beneath its blush;
The robin sings his roundelay;
The chorus bursts from every bush.

The sailing clouds the winds pursue
In the vast upper deep of sky,
Each grass blade holds a drop of dew;
Each drop reflects a world on high.

When night resumes her sapphire throne,
Wearing a coronet of light—
A queen that rules her realm alone—
The king of day withdraws from sight.

God lights the wild flower in the wood;
He rocks the sparrow in its nest;
He guides the angels on the road
That come to guard us when we rest.

O God be thanked! His sleepless care
Will guard us safely night and day.
His sheltering wing is everywhere;
His angel host His will obey.
—George W. Buhgay, in Harper's Bazar.

ZEB CARTER'S GRIT.

He Came to Stay—Fighting a Band of Regulators.

The term "Ku-klux" was familiar to the people of the rural districts in at least two Southern States at the close of the war; but in the wire-grass region of Georgia the organization was known as "The Bag Company"—and the mystery that shrouded its movements; the unknown men who composed it, riding with masked faces through the country on stormy nights; surrounding the dwellings of men who perhaps had committed crime, or were obnoxious to the community in which they lived, and in voiceless silence, binding their victim and taking him to the thick woods where, after the lash was applied, he was given warning to leave the country and return no more—made people shudder when its name was mentioned.

The disorganized condition of the country at that time made something of the kind necessary in many localities. Things were in a state of chaos; the law was but a mockery; men went tramping through the country, pillaging the farmhouses and often burning them; others settled down in communities and preyed upon the people like wolves, and general disorder reigned everywhere.

It was at this time that Zeb Carter and his wife rented a little farm near the old Albany and Gulf road, in the wire-grast region of Georgia, and set to work to mend their broken fortunes. They had lost their all by the war, in which Zeb had served as a private in the Confederate ranks from the beginning to the end. "Their all" did not mean much, compared with the losses sustained by others, and yet, it was much to them—though it only represented a little house in Savannah, which Zeb had built himself with the money he had saved from his hard labor.

Zeb had only been in the country a month when, coming home one day with an axe on his shoulder, he was met by his wife and three men, who seemed to have business with him. His wife was the first to speak.

"I'm so glad you've come, Zeb," she said. "These men have been waitin' to see you; and they've axed me so many curious questions that I didn't know how to answer 'em. I'm erfeared they don't mean us any good," she whispered as Zeb brought the pole of his axe to the ground with a thud, and, leaning on the handle, slipped his arm around his wife's waist and faced the men.

"I don't think we've ever met before," said Zeb, addressing his visitors. "I hain't had time to git 'round among the people yet, but I'm powerful glad to see you. What's up?"

"We want to speak to you privately," said one of the men.

"Well, go ahead," said Zeb, "we're private now. You needn't be afeared o' my wife. She an' me's one."

"I rather you'd step aside with me a moment," said the man. "I can't say what I am instructed to say to you in the presence of your wife."

"All right," said Zeb, shouldering his axe again. "I'm 'greeable. Any thing to save time. I'm in a powerful big hurry."

They stepped apart from the rest and conversed in low tones.

"It's no use talking," said Zeb, as the man remonstrated with him. "I know my business. I'm a peaceable an' law-abidin' man, whether there's any law in the country or not, an' I aren't a goin' to join your society. I respec' the law, but God didn't make me to deal it out to people—I aren't got brains enough for that."

"But every respectable man in the country belongs to us," said the man.

"Well, here's one that don't b'long to you!" said Zeb, bringing the pole of his axe down to the ground again, "an' what's more, he aren't a-goin' to b'long to you. I don't b'leve in your kind o' business."

"I'll give you a week to consider the matter before I make my report," said the man, as he beckoned to his companions and moved away, "and I'd advise you to give the right kind of answer when we see you again. It might be better for you in the end."

"I've done spoke my mind," replied Zeb, "an' you heard it. You know my sentiments."

A week rolled by—a week of hard work to Zeb, and he had almost forgotten the little episode recorded above, when the committee of three called on him again. The men had come to see if his mind had undergone any change with reference to his joining their "organization."

It had not, and Zeb told them so very plainly.

So they left him to report his case unfavorably at headquarters.

"I can't see what they want with me," remarked Zeb to his wife as they sat together by their cabin fire one rainy winter night. "They've got men enough to do all the mischief they want without me. An' to my mind they do more mischief than good, from what I can hear."

"Sh!" cried his wife, putting her hand to her ear in a listening attitude, "what's that?"

"Sounds like horses," said Zeb, getting up and going toward the door.

But his wife restrained him. "Don't open that door!" she cried, catching hold of Zeb's arm. "May be they've come for you!"

In a moment it was plain to them that the house was surrounded. They could hear voices speaking in low tones outside. Then there was a loud knock at the door.

Zeb got his rifle, and standing in front of his wife, facing the door, asked:

"Who's there?"

"Only a few friends," replied a gruff voice. "Will you open the door and let us in, or shall we bust it in?"

"What do you want?" cried Zeb, "a-comin' to a man's house an' talkin' about breakin' his door down!"

"We want you," replied the voice. "We've got a little matter to settle with you."

"How many of ye out there?" asked Zeb.

"There's enough of us," replied the voice. "If you don't want your door broke down, you'd better open it quick. We jes' wanter talk with you a bit."

"Break it down if you're a mind to," said Zeb, while his wife clung to him in terror, "but the first one of you that shows his head'll git a bullet in it.

The door was locked and barred, and the only window in the little cabin was securely fastened.

A heavy blow on the door with the butt of an axe made it tremble. Then there were several blows in succession, while on the other side of the house they were trying to wrench the window open.

"Git that shotgun, Mollie," cried Zeb, "an' stand guard at the winder!"

Pale and trembling, the woman obeyed.

Blow on blow fell on the door. They saw the keen blade or an axe cleave through; a heavy oaken panel gave way, then another and another.

"Stand fast, Mollie!" cried Zeb, "an' fire at the first face you see!"

And Mollie obeyed.

As the window was torn from its hinges and a wide space was cleft in the door, the sharp crack of a rifle was followed by the louder report of a shotgun.

There was a cry of pain outside; a heavy sound, as of a man's body falling to the ground.

"The captain's killed!" yelled a voice, and the cry was followed by the sound of a dozen rifles from without, and then the men who had been trying to force their way in the door rushed to the side of the house that Mollie guarded.

Zeb and his wife had crouched low after the first fire; the room was filled with smoke, but through it all Zeb could see that the door was unguarded from without.

"Come, Mollie!" he whispered, hoarsely, "now's our chance!"

They fled just as three horsemen wheeled around the house and fired a volley into the door.

The report of the guns drowned the echo of their flying feet, but Zeb and Mollie heard a voice exclaim:

"There's a woman in the house. Don't kill the woman!"

Then there was a loud yell, and the galloping of horses in different directions.

Their escape had been discovered.

On they went, Zeb and Mollie; on through the dark and rain.

Two men, riding furiously, passed so close to them that they might have touched them with their whips; but they crouched low on the ground, and were not seen.

On they went; the only sounds they heard now were those of their own hurrying feet; the chase had either been abandoned, or had taken a different direction from that in which they were going.

Mollie's strength was failing, and Zeb himself was exhausted.

Soaked through by the rain, and shivering with the cold of that winter's night, they reached at last a little cabin in the woods. The flicker of a fire within was seen through the chinks.

The negro who lived there was well known to Zeb, and there, by his hospitable hearth, Zeb and his wife spent the night, while the old man, terrified by the story Zeb told him, watched and listened by their side, lest their pursuers should come upon them unawares.

When the morning dawned, clear and beautiful, Zeb and Mollie retraced their steps to their deserted home.

Tacked in a conspicuous place on the front of the house was a piece of brown paper on which these words were written:

We give you twenty-four hours
TO LEAVE THE COUNTY.
By order of CAPTAIN JACK.

"Oh! Zeb," cried Mollie, "let's go back to Savannah. They'll come back to-night to kill us both."

"No!" cried Zeb, with a look of determination, and grinding his teeth as he spoke, "I'll die first. I ain't done nuthin' to run away for, an' I've got as much right to this country as they have They ain't a-goin' to bother us any more, Mollie; we give 'em warnin' last night."

And Zeb was right. That very day he shouldered his rifle and walked to the village distant three miles from his house. He told his story fearlessly—told it to the very men who had driven him from his home the night before—though now, in broad daylight, they were all innocence. He told them that he had come to that county to stay, and that he was not going to be driven from it like a dog.

He made an impression on them. There was a funeral in town that day, and the silent verdict of all was that it was Zeb's funeral—at least, that Zeb was in some way connected with it.

He didn't attend it, however, but returned to Mollie, repaired the damages on his house, and went about his work as usual. And though the "Bag Company" flourished in that county for six months afterwards, Zeb was never molested. In fact, he was looked upon as being the best man in that section, and Mollie deserved the distinction of being called "the best woman."

At least, Zeb thought so.—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

Bible Written in Shorthand.

There are many curious copies of the Bible in the various collections of Europe and America, but it is doubtful if there is a duplicate for the one belonging to Dr. R. T. It was written by an apprentice who was suspicious of James II.'s intentions regarding Protestantism. If deprived of his printed copy, he hoped to have the little shorthand volume left

The following test will be required of each and every voter at the said Primary elections:

"I am a citizen of this State and will support the nominees of the Republican party."

The following Resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this committee reaffirms the State and National Republican platform for 1888, including the declaration that "the Republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money" and that it, "condemns all efforts to demonetize silver."

Resolved, That the persistent neglect of Secretary Windom to increase the coinage of silver to the maximum of four million dollars per month, coupled with his attempt to influence Congressional legislation so as to perpetuate silver demonetization, is a shameless violation of the silver plank of the National Republican platform, an attack on the rights and interests of the miners, farmers and workers of the land, and an act of party perfidity that should call for his retirement from the councils of an administration which is pledged to help and not hinder the demonetization of silver.

Resolved, That the Republican party is in favor of free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver; that it holds to this principle as a tenet of party faith and a test of party allegiance; that it will permit of no abandonment or modification of this doctrine; that let whosoever will prove recreant to the principal of bimetallism it will remain steadfast thereto, and that it invites all voters in Nevada who favor the repeal of the iniquitous interlineated law of 1873 by which silver was demonetized, and who desire the establishment of free and unlimited coinage as the law of the United States of America, to join in electing delegates to a Republican State Convention.

Excellent are situated,

On the Virginia street located.
Bully fixed up,
And papered is the space,
Right in Frasher's former shop,
George has got his present place
And very cheap he sells his goods.
Invited all is to investigate,
Notions in his shop he slaughters,
Surely, at a special rate.
Truly you can money save;
Overbuy that is not wise
Rather, therefore, why not call and ask
Energetic after George's price.
